DALLAS GREEN

PRESIDENT AND GENERAL MANAGER

Dallas Green enters his third season as the Cubs' president and his sixth as the team's general manager. It took Dallas just three seasons to put together a team that won the National League Eastern Division championship in 1984, the first Cubs team since 1945 to compete in post-season play. During the last three seasons, the Cubs have drawn more than 2 million fans to Wrigley Field twice and fell just short of 1.9 million in 1986. The three-year totals also represent the top three attendance years in the 111 years of the franchise.

Green has made his presence felt on the Cubs roster. Entering the 1987 campaign only three players—Jody Davis, Leon Durham and Lee Smith—donned Cub uniforms prior to Green's arrival in October 1981. Only two other regulars, Keith Moreland and Ryne Sandberg, have played for the Cubs during the past five seasons. The trades in December of 1981 for Moreland and in January of 1982 for Sandberg are certainly at the top of the list of Green's best moves. Both players have batted higher than .300 twice and Sandberg won the 1984 Most Valuable Player Award in the National League.

Under Green's direction, the Cubs' minor league system is also producing future major leaguers. In 1986, the Cubs' six minor league affiliates posted a combined record of 371-336 (.525). In all, five of the six clubs contended for playoff berths into the final weekend of the season. Those five clubs finished with a 349-290 (.546) record, including Winston-Salem (A), which won the Carolina League title for the second straight season. Cub minor leaguers led their respective leagues in 21 major hitting and pitching categories while 32 Cub prospects were runners-up. The Cubs' minor league clubs ranked first in 15 major hitting and pitching categories and second in 14 major departments in their respective leagues. The Cubs minor leaguers capped off 1986 by winning the Arizona Instructional League title.

In 1984, Green was named baseball's Executive of the Year by The Sporting News, United Press International and ESPN. He also received the Will Harridge Achievement Award at the annual Diamond Dinner in Chicago. He was named Chicagoan of the Year by the Chicago Press Club.

Before he came to Chicago, Dallas climbed the organizational ladder of the Philadelphia Phillies. His efforts reached a climax in 1980 when Green managed the Phillies to the World Championship. The World Series title was the first for that franchise in more than 100 years. In 1983, Green was recognized for this achievement when Phillie fans named him the manager of the Philadelphia Centennial Team.

Green's baseball career began on the pitching mound. He played 5½ years in the Phillies' farm system, beginning in 1955, before spending six years (1960-64 and 1967) with the parent team. He also made short stops with the Washington Senators (1965) and the New York Mets (1966). He retired with a lifetime major league record of 20-22.

After his big league playing career ended in 1967, Green served in the Phillies' farm system as the player-pitching coach for Reading of the Eastern League (AA). In 1968 he managed Huron of the Northern League (A), and the following year he piloted Pulaski of the Appalachian League (Rookie). In 1970 he became the assistant to Paul Owens, Philadelphia's director of minor leagues. Green became head of that department when Owens was elevated to the director of personnel in June 1972.

Green held that position until August 31, 1979, when he replaced Danny Ozark as the Phillies' manager. The Phillies were 19-11 the remainder of the season. In his first full season at the helm in 1980, Green finished with a 91-71 mark and won the NL Eastern Division. The Phillies defeated Houston in the League Championship Series in five games before winning the World Series in six games over Kansas City. Green became only the fourth rookie big league manager to win a World Series, the others being Bucky Harris (1924 Washington Senators), Eddie Dyer (1946 St. Louis Cardinals) and Ralph Houk (1961 New York Yankees).

Green was born August 4, 1934, in Newport, DE, and attended the University of Delaware, where he received a bachelor's degree in 1981.

Dallas married the former Sylvia Taylor in 1958. They have four children — Dana, John, Kim and Douglas. The Greens own a 60-acre farm in West Grove, PA, but maintain a residence in Winnetka, IL.

WRIGLEY FIELD—HOME OF THE CUBS

This season marks the 72nd year that the Cubs have called Wrigley Field home. The Friendly Confines has housed such historic moments as:

- * Babe Ruth's supposed pointing to a spot where he then proceeded to hit Charlie Root's next pitch for a home run in the 1932 World Series.
- * Gabby Hartnett's famous "Homer in the Gloamin' in 1938.
- * The great 1917 pitching duel between Jim "Hippo" Vaughn and the Reds' Fred Toney, Toney winning on a no-hitter in the 10th inning.
- * Ernie Banks' 500th career home run in 1970.
- * Pete Rose's tying Ty Cobb for most hits in baseball history (4,191) in 1985.

Built in 1914 with a capacity of 14,000, Weeghman Park, as Wrigley Field was originally known, housed the Chicago Whales of the newly formed Federal League. The league lasted only two years before folding for financial reasons. Chicago's entry was the property of Charles H. Weeghman, a wealthy restaurant chain owner.

The cost of building Weeghman Park was estimated at $250,000 and at one time there were 490 men working on the project. More than 4,000 yards of soil and four acres of bluegrass were brought into the park.

The first National League game played there was on April 20, 1916, when the Cubs beat the Cincinnati Reds 7-6 in 11 innings. The park became known as Cubs Park in 1920. It was officially named Wrigley Field in 1926 in honor of William Wrigley, Jr., the club's owner.

The Wrigley Field scoreboard was constructed in 1937 when the outfield area was renovated to provide improved bleacher seating. Except for a few touches of modernization such as the electronic message board, the original scoreboard remains intact.

The score-by-innings and the pitchers' numbers are changed by hand. The numbers signaling batter, ball, strike and out, along with H and E to signify hit and error, are eyelits. Light bulbs are not used, although it does appear that they are.

One of the traditions of the park is the flying of a flag bearing a "W" or an "L" atop the scoreboard after a game. A blue flag with a white "W" indicates a victory; a white flag with a blue "L" denotes a loss. To inform night travelers of the results, a new innovation was added in 1978—a blue light atop the scoreboard signals victory and a white light indicates defeat.

In recent years, Wrigley Field has undergone various changes. The seats in the lower grandstand down both foul lines have been turned in toward home plate. The upper deck was completely restructured over a four-year period (1968-71). Plastic, self-rising contour seats were installed in the lower-deck reserved seating area, replacing wooden seats. New office space was created and old offices refurbished in the administrative area behind home plate in 1981-82. A new ticket office was built directly behind home plate in 1983. During the winter of 1984, a new home clubhouse was completed under the third-base stands.

Although improvements have been made to the park in the last two decades to increase comfort and convenience for the spectators, Wrigley Field remains much the same as it was when it opened in 1914. With a seating capacity of 38,143, Wrigley Field is one of the few remaining parks in the major leagues that was designed for the sole purpose of playing baseball.

FACTS ABOUT WRIGLEY FIELD

Did you know that:

No batted baseball has ever hit the centerfield scoreboard. Two balls barely missed, landing on Waveland and Sheffield Avenues. One homer was hit by Roberto Clemente to right-center, the other by Bill "Swish" Nicholson to left-center.

The original vines were purchased and planted by Bill Veeck in 1938. Veeck strung Bittersweet from the top of the wall to the bottom. He then planted the ivy at the base of the wall.

The entire bleacher wall is 11 feet high. The basket attached to the wall was constructed in 1970.

Ernie Banks' uniform number (14) is imprinted on the flag which hangs from the leftfield foul pole. Banks is the only Cub to have his uniform retired.

A live Cub bear was in attendance at the first National League game played at Wrigley Field (then Weeghman Park) in 1916.

NOTES ON CUBS HISTORY

The creation of the National League in 1876 is largely credited to William A. Hulbert, the first president of the Chicago club. Until his death in 1882, he held the dual role of league president and club president. With the assistance of Albert G. Spalding, Chicago's first manager, Hulbert drafted the National League constitution and by-laws in 1875. Over 100 years later, these rules have remained almost unchanged.

Of the eight original charter members of the National League, only the Cubs have operated continuously in the same city in which they were franchised.

In 1907, "Cubs" was officially adopted as the nickname of the team. Although nicknames were not official in the early years of the league, the Chicago club was first dubbed the "White Stockings." After 1890, the most popular nicknames for the team were "Colts" and "Orphans." Legend has it that a newspaper writer first used the "Cubs" name on March 27, 1902, while searching for a short name to fit a headline.

The Wrigley family's involvement with the Cubs started after the 1915 season when William Wrigley, Jr. and a group of Chicago businessmen purchased the team from the Taft family of Cincinnati. In 1921, Wrigley became majority stockholder. After his death in 1932, his interest passed to his son, Philip K. Wrigley. Upon Philip's death in 1977, principal interest in the ballclub was left to his son, William. The sale of the club by William Wrigley in 1981 ended the longest continuous operation of a franchise by the same family in the same city in baseball history.

Tribune Company acquired the Cubs in August of 1981 for $20.5 million. Principal stockholder William Wrigley passed on controlling interest on June 16, 1981. The new era of the Cubs was ushered in by Cubs' Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Board Andrew J. McKenna and Stanton R. Cook, President and CEO of Tribune Company.

On October 15, 1981, Dallas Green was named the Cubs' Executive Vice-President and General Manager. Green had been the driving force as field manager of the 1980 World Champion Philadelphia Phillies.

The Cubs won their first National League Eastern Division championship in 1984 when they compiled a 96-65 record. It was the first time since 1945 that the Cubs advanced into post-season competition. The 96 victories were the most by a Cubs team since the 1945 club went 98-56.

Dallas Green became the Cubs' President and Chief Executive Officer on December 18, 1984. Green retained his title as General Manager.

HIGHLIGHTS IN CUBS HISTORY

In 111 National League seasons, the Cubs have played 16,264 games and have won 8,374 (151 were tied), both major league records.

The 1986 Cubs led the league in homers for the second straight season. They had 155 home runs, their highest total since 1970. Seven players hit 10 or more homers as the club combined to hit 10 or more vs. every National League opponent. The Cubs have hit 100 or more home runs in 34 of their last 36 seasons.

Ryne Sandberg established a National League record for fielding percentage by a second baseman with a .9938 mark in 1986. He tied a major league record by committing just five errors. Sandberg also swiped 34 bases to become the first Cub since Frank Chance (1906-10) to steal 30 or more bases in five straight seasons.

Lee Smith became the first relief pitcher in National League history and the second in baseball history to record three straight 30-save seasons by saving 31 games in 1986.

The Cubs set a city and franchise home attendance record by drawing 2,161,534 fans to Wrigley Field in 1985. They also led the National League in road attendance by attracting a club-record 2,255,306. The 1985 Cubs set a club total attendance record of 4,416,840, surpassing the previous high of 4,106,588 established in 1984.

The 1985 Cubs stole 182 bases, the highest total since the 1911 team stole 214.

Ryne Sandberg became the third player in major league history to hit 25 or more homers and steal 50 or more bases in a season, hitting 26 homers and stealing 54 bases in 1985. Larry Bowa played in his 2,154th major league game at shortstop on May 10, 1985, at San Diego, breaking Rabbit Maranville's record for games played at that position in the National League.

The Cubs clinched their first National League Eastern Division title in Pittsburgh on September 24, 1984, as Rick Sutcliffe downed the Pirates 4-1 on a two-hitter.

Ryne Sandberg collected two late-inning homers in a 12-11 win against St. Louis at Wrigley Field on June 23, 1984. Sandberg led off the ninth inning with a solo home run against Bruce Sutter to tie the game at 9-9. He then hit a two-run, two-out homer off Sutter in the 10th to tie the game at 11-11. Sandberg went 5-for-6 with seven RBI.

On August 22, 1982, Ernie Banks became the first Cub to have his uniform number (14) retired.

The Dodgers beat the Cubs 2-1 in a 21-inning game on August 17-18, 1982. The contest fell one inning shy of the club's all-time record of 22 innings, set on May 22, 1927, when the Cubs defeated the Braves 4-3 in Boston. The 21-inning game tied the record for most innings played by a Cubs team at home; on July 17, 1918, the Cubs beat Philadelphia 2-1 in 21 innings.

Ferguson Jenkins became only the seventh man in baseball history to record 3,000 strikeouts at San Diego on May 25, 1982.

The Cubs hit the 8,000-victory mark on May 13, 1982, against Houston in the Astrodome. Allen Ripley was the winning pitcher for the Cubs. The Cubs have won more games than any other pro franchise in one city.

The largest Opening Day crowd at Wrigley Field, 45,777, attended the 1978 home opener vs. Pittsburgh on April 14.

Ernie Banks hit the 500th home run of his career into the leftfield bleachers at Wrigley Field on May 12, 1970, off Atlanta's Pat Jarvis.

On April 30, 1970, Billy Williams became the first player in National League history to play 1,000 consecutive games. He extended his streak to 1,117 games before benching himself on September 3, 1970.

Don Cardwell threw a no-hitter against the Cardinals in his Cubs debut on May 15, 1960. He became the only pitcher in baseball history to hurl a no-hitter in his first appearance for a club.

In 1958, Ernie Banks became the first member of a team with a losing record to win the MVP Award. He was also MVP in 1959.

The 1958 Cubs hit 182 homers during the season to establish the club record.

The 1945 Cubs helped themselves to the National League pennant by sweeping 19 double-headers and splitting 10.

Gabby Hartnett hit his famous "Homer in the Gloamin'" off Pittsburgh's Mace Brown on September 28, 1938. The Cubs clinched the pennant three days later.

The 1935 Cubs set the record for consecutive victories in a season. They won 21 games in a row to capture the National League pennant.

Hack Wilson established a major league record by driving in 190 runs in 1930. He hit a National League-record 56 home runs.

The largest crowd to see a baseball game at Wrigley Field was 51,556 on June 27, 1930, against Brooklyn. Of that number, 30,476 were Ladies' Day guests and 1,332 were passholders.

Jim "Hippo" Vaughn and Cincinnati's Fred Toney pitched a double no-hitter for nine innings on May 2, 1917, at Wrigley Field. The Reds had two hits off Vaughn in the 10th and won 1-0.

Cub pitcher Ed Reulbach pitched both games of a double-header against Brooklyn on September 26, 1908, shutting out the Dodgers by scores of 5-0 and 3-0.

The major league records for wins in a season and winning percentage are held by the 1906 Cubs, who won 116 and lost 36 (.763).

A LOOK AT 1986

The Chicago Cubs' 1986 season did not produce the overall results many hoped for. It did, however, produce many quality performances indicative of a championship-caliber season.

The club led the league in homers for the second straight season and came within one error of leading the league in fewest errors committed. The 155 homers were the most by any Cubs team since 1970. In all, seven players hit 10 or more homers and the club combined to hit 10 or more vs. every N.L. opponent. The Cubs hit a career-high nine homers in St. Louis' Busch Stadium and six in the Houston Astrodome—the fifth-highest total for an Eastern Division team in the 22-year history of the Dome.

Perennial All-Star and Gold Glove second baseman Ryne Sandberg turned in his usual outstanding season as did reliever Lee Smith, who had 31 saves. Catcher Jody Davis had his best season throwing, catching 78 runners attempting to steal—the league high. He also was selected for his first Gold Glove award.

Sandberg had his best year defensively, committing just five errors in setting a National League record for highest fielding percentage by a second baseman (.9938). He tied a major league record for fewest errors in a season. Smith, one of the league's most consistent relief pitchers, became the first in National League history and the second in baseball history to record three straight 30-save seasons. Besides throwing out 45% of the runners attempting to steal and assisting on nine pickoffs, Davis hit 21 homers to surpass the 20-mark for the second time.

The 1986 season will also be remembered for the influx of young talent that surfaced with the Cubs. The Cubs played with seven of their top prospects in September (Rafael Palmeiro, Drew Hall, Greg Maddux, Chico Walker, Dave Martinez, Brian Dayett and Jamie Moyer). Outfielders Palmeiro, Walker, Martinez and Dayett combined to hit nine homers, drive in 37 runs, steal 20 bases and deliver five game-winning hits. The Cubs were 15-11 in their final 26 games as the average age of the starting lineup dropped from 30.6 to 26.2.

Pitcher Dennis Eckersley reached a pair of milestones with his 150th career win and 100th complete game. Ed Lynch, acquired from the Mets at the end of June, worked effectively both as a starter and reliever with a 7-5 record.

The Cubs revamped their starting rotation in September, combining veterans Rick Sutcliffe and Eckersley with rookies Moyer, Maddux and Hall. The move prompted the addition of Scott Sanderson and Steve Trout to the bullpen. Both pitched well in relief.

Hall and Maddux both turned in complete-game victories in September. Hall, 23, also earned a save in his first big league relief appearance. Maddux, 20, won two games, including a complete-game decision against Cincinnati. He became the youngest pitcher in the league during the 1986 season and the youngest Cub in 20 seasons to win a game. He won't turn 21 until April.

Moyer (7-4) was the club's winningest starting pitcher after his recall in mid-June. The 23-year-old left-hander did not allow a run in four of his 16 starts and put together a pair of scoreless streaks totaling 17 and 13.1 innings. He also had a perfect game for 6.1 innings against the Expos.

Palmeiro, the Eastern League (AA) Most Valuable Player, hit three homers in September against pitchers Dwight Gooden, Bob Forsch and Kevin Gross. It took Palmeiro 29 major league at-bats before he swung and missed at a pitch—a pitch delivered by Gooden.

Walker stole 15 bases in September becoming the second Cub in at least 70 years to steal that many bases in a month. Dayett finished the season with a seven-game hitting streak and had four homers and three game-winning hits in the final two weeks of the season.

Sandberg swiped 34 bases to become the first Cub since Frank Chance in 1906-10 to steal 30 or more bases five straight seasons. Along with his record-setting season at second base, Sandberg ran his errorless string on artificial turf to 63 regular-season games.

Shawon Dunston showed flashes of brilliance both offensively and defensively. He had the longest Cub hitting streak of the season (14 games) and also led the team with 37 doubles. He hit 17 homers, the most by a Cub shortstop since Ernie Banks' 29 in 1961. Shawon led the Cubs in doubles (37) and game-winning hits (8, four from the 6th inning or later) and was second in game-tying hits (9, five from the 6th inning or later).

Keith Moreland continued as one of baseball's top clutch hitters. He led the club in game-tying hits with 13—six from the 6th inning or later. He was third in game-winning hits with six. Keith also led the club in games played (156), runs (72), RBI (79) and sacrifice flies (11).

Leon Durham moved into the Top 10 on the Cubs' all-time home run list by hitting 20 for the third straight season and for the fourth time in his career. He also led the club in triples with seven.

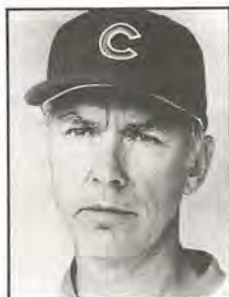

Ron Cey reached a milestone in early May when he became the fifth third baseman in baseball history to hit 300 homers.

Gary Matthews hit 21 homers, tying Davis' team-leading total. It was the third time he surpassed 20 in his career and the first time since 1979. He averaged a homer every 18 at-bats, the best ratio of his career and the fifth highest ratio in the league.

The Cubs had one of the more productive benches in the league with Thad Bosley, Jerry Mumphrey, Chris Speier and Manny Trillo. After leading the majors in pinch-hits in 1985, Bosley finished third with 16 in 1986. During the 1985 and 1986 seasons, Bosley batted .324 as a pinch-hitter. Mumphrey complimented Bosley, leading the club with eight pinch-RBI along with 10 hits. Mumphrey batted .361 at Wrigley Field—the sixth straight season he batted more than .300 in his home park. Speier filled in at second, shortstop and third base. Trillo was very valuable as both a starter and a defensive replacement at first and third base.

Once again, the Cubs had a successful year at home and on the road in attendance. The Cubs drew 1,859,102 (23,835 per date) at Wrigley Field and 1,880,896 (24,427) on the road. The home attendance ranked fifth in the league and also represented the third-highest total in the 111-year history of the franchise.

GENE MICHAEL (4) MANAGER

MICHAEL, EUGENE RICHARD—Born 6-2-38, Kent, OH, turns 49 on June 2.

On June 13, 1986, Gene Michael became the 38th manager in Cubs history. He inherited a club with a 24-34 record. From June 14 through the end of the season, the Cubs were 46-56.

Michael had been a coach for the New York Yankees for three seasons (1984-86) after two stints as the Yankees' manager.

Gene managed the Yankees in 1981 and compiled a 46-33 record. He guided the Yankees to the first-half title during the 1981 strike season (34-22) and managed the first 23 games after the strike (12-11). He was replaced by Bob Lemon on September 6.

Gene returned to the managerial position on April 26, 1982, replacing Bob Lemon. He managed the Yankees until August 3 when he was replaced by Clyde King. The Yankees were 44-42 under Michael in 1982. Overall, he has a major league managerial record of 136-131.

Besides serving the Yankees as a manager and a coach, Gene was the Yankees' general manager in 1980. He scouted for the organization during parts of the 1981, 1982 and 1983 seasons before returning as a coach. The first club he managed was the Yankees' Columbus affiliate in the International League (AAA) in 1979. He managed the Clippers to a first-place finish as well as the International League championship. Including his front office and playing career, Gene spent 17 years in the Yankee organization.

Gene's major league playing career spanned nine-plus seasons, including seven with the Yankees (1968-74). The former shortstop broke in with the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1966 after playing eight seasons in the minor leagues. He was traded to the Los Angeles Dodgers prior to the 1967 season along with third baseman Bob Bailey for shortstop Maury Wills. He began his association with the Yankees on November 30, 1967, when his contract was purchased from the Dodgers. He concluded his playing career with Detroit in 1975. He spent the 1976 season with the Boston Red Sox but did not play. His best season was in 1969 when he batted .272 for the Yankees.

He graduated from Kent State University with a bachelor's degree in education. He was a close friend of the late Thurman Munson.

Gene is single and resides in Bergenfield, NJ, during the off-season. He has 3 children—Sandra, Mark and Matthew.

THE HALL OF FAME CAREER OF BILLY WILLIAMS

Day-by-day, year-by-year, Billy Leo Williams took his position in leftfield and in the third spot in the Cubs lineup. To say Billy Williams was a fixture for the Cubs tells only part of the story. His consistency as a tremendously talented professional athlete and as a person is difficult to duplicate. The man went to work everyday. And he produced everyday. He was a tradition.

There have been quite a few highlighted dates during the 18-year major league career of Billy:

August 6, 1959—A wide-eyed, homesick kid from Whistler, Alabama, entered the Cubs clubhouse for the first time and made his debut, going hitless in four at-bats.

June 29, 1969—In front of 41,060 fans on Billy Williams Day at Wrigley Field, Billy helped the Cubs sweep Bob Gibson and the Cardinals in a double-header. He played in the first game, tying Stan Musial's league record for consecutive games played. After being honored between games, Billy went out and played in his 896th straight game. Williams had five hits that afternoon.

September 2, 1970—Billy played in his 1,117th consecutive National League game—the exclamation point to what was then the longest streak in the league's 95-year history and the third-longest in the history of the game.

July 11, 1972—He went 8-for-8 with two homers, a double and five singles in a double-header against the Houston Astros.

And then came January 14, 1987, when Billy joined the elite of his profession and became a member of the National Baseball Hall of Fame—the greatest honor associated with baseball.

His streak—a streak in which he pinch hit just three times—will always be his benchmark. Yet, there was so much more to the career of Billy Williams. After 16 years with the Cubs, he played his final two seasons with the Oakland A's. He finished his career following the 1976 season with a .290 lifetime batting average, a slugging percentage of .492, 2,711 hits, 434 doubles, 426 home runs, 1,410 runs scored and 1,476 runs batted in.

His everyday consistency has been matched by no more than a handful of major league players. He played 161 or more games for eight straight seasons, including six consecutive years when he played between 162 and 164. He hit 20 or more home runs in 13 of his 14 full Cub seasons and had 30 or more homers five times. He batted in 90 or more runs 10 seasons and hit above .300 five times.

In 1970 he established career highs with 42 home runs, 129 runs batted in, 205 hits and 137 runs scored. He tied for the league lead in hits and led the league in runs scored that season. It was the third time he surpassed 200 hits and the fourth time he scored more than 100 runs. He batted .322 with a .586 slugging percentage. In 1972, he led the league with a .333 batting average and a .606 slugging percentage. Billy also hit 37 home runs and drove in 122 runs.

As a point of reference, 1986 National League Most Valuable Player Mike Schmidt had many impressive statistics. Listed are some figures from Schmidt's 1986 season and in parentheses is the number of times Williams had seasons equaling or surpassing Schmidt's totals: Average: .290 (7); Games: 160 (8); Runs scored: 97 (5); Hits: 160 (12); Doubles: 29 (7); Home Runs: 37 (2); RBI: 119 (2); Slugging Percentage: .547 (3).

There will be at least one other prominent date for Billy Williams: July 26, 1987, when he makes the trip to Cooperstown, New York, and enters the greatest clubhouse in baseball history—the Hall of Fame.

DID YOU KNOW?

When Chuck Rainey's no-hitter on August 23, 1983, was ended by Cincinnati's Eddie Milner with two outs in the 9th inning, it was the 22nd time in baseball history a no-hitter had been broken up with two outs. Additionally, three perfect games have been ended with two outs in the 9th. Rainey was the first Cub to lose a two-out, 9th-inning no-hitter. The Cubs also broke one up themselves—Joe Wallis ruined Tom Seaver's bid for a no-hitter in 1975.

Ryne participated in baseball's all-star tour of Japan during November.

MAJOR LEAGUES: In 1985 Ryne established career highs in homers (26) and stolen bases (54) to become the third player in ML history to have 25 or more homers and 50 or more stolen bases in a single season. . . his 26 homers were the most by a Cubs second baseman since Rogers Hornsby hit 39 in 1929. . . his 54 steals were the most by a Cub since Frank Chance stole 57 in 1906 and represented the club record for steals by a second baseman. . . Ryne made his second All-Star appearance. . . tied Keith Moreland for the longest hitting streak in the league, tying a personal high with an 18-game streak from June 18-July 6 (30-75, .400). . . he was named to The Sporting News' NL Silver Slugger team. . . at second base Ryne had a fielding percentage of .986 in winning his third Gold Glove. . . had a 48-game errorless streak from August 3-September 25. . . in 1984 Ryne received numerous post-season awards, including the league's Most Valuable Player Award. . . he was chosen by The Sporting News as Major League Player of the Year and NL Player of the Year and was selected to the publication's NL Silver Slugger team. . . became the fifth Cub to win the MVP and the first since Ernie Banks in 1959. . . he batted a career-high .314 and set career marks with a league-leading 114 runs scored and 200 hits, the 2nd-best total in the league. . . he also tied for the NL lead with a career-high 19 triples. . . his .520 slugging percentage was 3rd in the league. . . Ryne had 19 homers, 36 doubles and 32 stolen bases. . . missed by a homer and a triple of becoming the first player in ML history to have at least 200 hits and 20 or more doubles, triples, homers and stolen bases in a season. . . committed 6 errors in 870 total chances to win his second straight Gold Glove. . . his league-leading fielding percentage of .9932 fell just short of Manny Trillo's NL second baseman-record .9937 percentage in 1982. . . Ryne led the majors in total chances and assists (550) for the second straight season. . . he also had the longest errorless streak in the league for second basemen (61 games). . . Ryne was named NL Player of the Month in June, hitting .376 with 8 homers and 21 RBI. . . he had one of the greatest games in Cubs history when he went 5-for-6 on June 23 to help rally the Cubs past the Cardinals 12-11 in 11 innings. . . in the game, Ryne hit a pair of game-tying homers off reliever Bruce Sutter, one in the 9th inning and the other in the 10th. . . Ryne made his first start in the All-Star Game. . . Ryne batted .368 in the NLCS against the Padres. . . in 1983 Ryne earned the first Gold Glove of his career and became the first player in NL history and the second in ML history to win a Gold Glove in his first full season at a new position. . . it was the first time a Cub had earned the award since shortstop Don Kessinger in 1970. . . Ryne led NL second basemen in fielding percentage (.986) and had a 38-game errorless streak from May 21-June 30. . . he led the club with 37 steals, the most by a Cub second baseman since Johnny Evers' 46 in 1907. . . he tied a big league record for most assists by a second baseman in a 9-inning game with 12 on June 12 vs. St. Louis. . . in 1982 Ryne finished his rookie season with a .271 average after a 1-for-32 start. . . he led the team with 103 runs scored, a team record for most runs scored by a rookie. . . Billy Herman had held the rookie mark, scoring 102 runs in 1932. . . Ryne's 32 stolen bases were a record for a Cubs third baseman, breaking Harry Steinfieldt's mark of 29 that had stood since 1906. . . he committed 11 errors in 140 games in his first full season at third base, 2nd to Bob Horner's 10 among NL third basemen. . . Ryne moved to second base on September 3 and played 24 games. . . he was selected Rookie of the Year by the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America. . . he was named to the Topps Major League All-Rookie team. . . in 1981 Ryne made his big league debut with Philadelphia. . . he had 1 hit in 6 at-bats—a single at Wrigley Field off Mike Krukow on September 27.

IN THE MINORS: In 1981 Ryne played at Oklahoma City of the American Association (AAA) in the Phillies' system and led the team in games played (133), at-bats (519) and hits (152). . . he played 117 games at shortstop and had a fielding percentage of .972, the 2nd-best mark in the league. . . in 1980 Ryne batted .310 at Reading of the Eastern League (AA), the 3rd-best average in the league. . . he led the league's shortstops in assists (386), fielding average (.964) and double plays (81). . . he was 2nd in the league in runs scored (95) and triples (12) and 3rd in total bases (230). . . he was named to the Eastern League all-star team. . . in 1979 Ryne led the Western Carolinas League (A) in double plays (80) at Spartanburg. . . he led the league's shortstops in fielding (.945), assists (467) and total chances (636). . . in 1978 Ryne made his professional debut at Helena of the Pioneer League (Rookie). . . he led league shortstops in assists (200) and doubles plays (39) and batted .311.

PERSONAL/MISC: Ryne is married to the former Cindy White. Children: Lindsey, Justin. . . they reside in Tempe, AZ, during the off-season. . . THE 200-20-20-20-20 CLUB

No player in baseball history has ever had a season when he had 200 or more hits plus 20 or more doubles, triples, homers and stolen bases. Ryne Sandberg came the closest to achieving that plateau, falling short by one homer and one triple. Here are a few of the players who have come the closest in baseball history:

1986 SEASON: Rick struggled with a 5-14 season . . . the Cubs scored a total of 23 runs in his 14 losses, including only 1 run in his first 3 starts . . . Rick averaged 3.26 runs of support per start, the lowest total in the league and the 2nd-lowest in the major leagues among starters . . . Rick led the club with 4 complete games, giving him a career total of 41 . . . he threw back-to-back complete games on May 23 (4-1 vs. Houston) and May 28 (5-0 vs. Cincinnati) as part of a 3-game winning streak . . . he hurled 22.2 scoreless innings—tops on the club in 1986 and the most by any Cub pitcher since Ray Burris had 25.0 straight in 1976 . . . Rick worked into the 7th inning in 11 of his first 13 starts . . . he worked 10 innings on June 13 vs. St. Louis in a 1-0 loss—the only Cub pitcher to pitch 10 innings last season . . . he also worked 9.2 innings on May 4 at San Francisco in a 2-1 loss . . . on April 20 vs. Pittsburgh, Rick worked 2 innings in relief—his first relief appearance after 64 consecutive starts dating back to August 31, 1983 . . . he struck out a season-high 9 hitters twice (May 4 at San Francisco and September 16 at Montreal) . . . Rick went on the disabled list from June 30-August 3 with tendinitis of the right shoulder . . . he suffered an 8-game losing streak and went 15 starts (from June 2-September 26) between victories .

MAJOR LEAGUES: In 1985 Rick was hampered by a series of injuries that put him on the disabled list three times and limited him to 20 starts and an 8-8 record . . . he had his 16-game regular season winning streak (a Cub record) stopped on April 19 in Montreal in a 5-3 Cub loss . . . prior to his first injury on May 19 (torn left hamstring), Rick was 5-3 with a 2.11 ERA in 8 starts . . . 4 of the starts were complete games and 2 were shutouts . . . he returned to the mound on June 7 and went the distance, beating Pittsburgh 1-0 . . . he was 2-2 with a 1.62 ERA in 5 starts before going on the disabled list with a strained left adductor muscle on July 8. . . he was activated July 23 and pitched that evening in San Diego, beating the Padres 8-1 and working 7 innings. . . it was his last win of the season. . . on July 28 in Los Angeles, Rick worked only .2 of an inning, allowing 3 hits, a walk and a wild pitch while facing 6 batters. . . he was placed on the disabled list for the final time on July 29 with a right shoulder injury. . . in 1984 Rick became only the third pitcher in Cub history to win the Cy Young Award. . . he compiled a 16-1 record with a 2.69 ERA in 20 games after being acquired from Cleveland. . . he led the staff in victories, strikeouts (155), complete games (7), ERA and shutouts (3). . . he won 14 straight regular season games to end the season. . . he became the only pitcher to win the Cy Young Award after pitching in both leagues during the award-winning season. . . Rick was 4-5 with Cleveland, giving him a 20-6 record overall. . . he was only the fourth pitcher in baseball history to win 20 games while pitching in both leagues. . . on September 24, Rick 2-hit the Pirates in a 4-1 win at Pittsburgh to clinch the NL East title for the Cubs. . . Rick was the NL Pitcher of the Month in August when he went 6-0 with a 3.52 ERA. . . from September 3-September 19, he worked 30.1 innings, allowing 24 hits and 8 earned runs while fanning 40 and walking just 2. . . Rick's only regular-season loss as a Cub came at Los Angeles on June 29. . . he defeated the Padres 13-0 in the NLCS opener at Wrigley Field. . . he homered off Eric Show in the game. . . he was the loser in Game 5 in San Diego, 6-3. . . Rick became only the fourth NL pitcher to win the Cy Young Award unanimously, the others being Sandy Koufax (1963, 1965, 1966), Bob Gibson (1968) and Steve Carlton (1972, 1977). . . his other post-season honors included The Sporting News' NL Pitcher of the Year and ESPN's Pitcher of the Year awards. . . he was selected to the Associated Press and United Press International all-star teams. . . Rick received the highest honor awarded by the Chicago chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America—the Warren Brown Headline Award. . . in 1983 Rick was 17-11 for a Cleveland team that won 70 games. . . he had a 10-3 mark and a 3.92 ERA for the first half of the season, earning a trip to his first All-Star Game. . . in 1982 Rick won the AL ERA title in his first year with the Indians. . . he had a 14-8 record along with a 2.96 ERA. . . he was the only AL starter with an ERA under 3.00. . . in 1980 Rick got off to a 0-2 start for the Dodgers and was sent to the bullpen in mid-May. . . he picked up 3 saves and a win in his first 7 relief appearances. . . he pitched a 3-hitter in a spot start against Houston on June 24 in a 3-0 win. . . in 1979 Rick made his first start (after 9 relief outings) on May 3 against Philadelphia and went the distance in beating the Phillies 5-2. . . he stayed in the rotation the rest of the way and led the staff in wins (17) and innings pitched (242). . . he was chosen NL Rookie of the Year by the Baseball Writer's Association of America, The Sporting News and the Baseball Bulletin. . . Rick set a Dodger record for most wins by a rookie. . . he hit his first ML homer off Cincinnati's Tom Seaver on May 25. . . in 1976 Rick made his big league debut against Houston on September 29.

IN THE MINORS: In 1978 Rick had his best season in the minors at Albuquerque of the Pacific Coast League (AAA). . . he had a 13-6 mark in 30 games, going the distance 6 times. . . in 1977 Rick was named the outstanding rookie in the Dodgers' spring training camp but had minor arm troubles in a 3-10 season at Albuquerque. . . in 1976 Rick pitched for Waterbury of the Eastern League (AA) and led the staff in wins (10), strikeouts (121), games started (26), complete games (8).

DID YOU KNOW?

Before Cy Young Award winner Rick Sutcliffe came along, the Cubs had a catcher who carried the name Sy Sutcliffe. Sy caught four games for the 1884 team and batted .200 with three hits in 15 at-bats. His career spanned seven seasons, including one season (1891) when he batted .353.

DID YOU KNOW?

On July 22, 1986, Frank DiPino became the fifth left-handed pitcher on the staff, giving the Cubs five southpaws on the staff for the first time since the expanded 40-man September roster of 1979 (Ken Holtzman, Willie Hernandez, Doug Capilla, George Riley and Dave Geisel). The last time the Cubs had five left-handed pitchers on the staff before September 1 was in 1967 when the Cubs had five from Opening Day through May 22 (Holtzman, Rich Nye, Bob Hendley, Curt Simmons and John Upham).

SCORING RULE—PINCH HITTERS

A player shall be considered a pinch hitter only if he enters the game as a substitute batter and then only on his first time at bat, which must be before he becomes a fielder. If the team bats around and a pinch hitter comes up a second time in the inning in which he first appeared, he will not be considered a pinch hitter during that second time up.

A substitute hitter for a designated hitter is both a pinch hitter and a designated hitter on his first time at bat. On subsequent trips to the plate he is a designated hitter only.

SAVE RULE

Saves shall be awarded to relief pitchers under the following criteria:

Rule 10:20 tells the official scorer to credit a pitcher with a save when he meets all three of the following conditions: (1) He is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club; and (2) He is not the winning pitcher; and (3) He qualifies under the following conditions: (a) He enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and pitches for at least one inning; or (b) He enters the game with the potential tying run either on base, at bat or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces); or (c) He pitches effectively for at least three innings.

CUB NO-HIT PITCHERS SINCE 1900

- 1904 Bob Wicker, June 11, vs. Giants at New York (pitched 9.1 hitless innings, won 1-0 on 1-hitter in 12 innings).
- 1910 Leonard Cole, July 31, vs. Cardinals at St. Louis, second game of double-header, won 4-0 (7 innings).
- 1915 Jim Lavender, August 31, vs. Giants at New York, first game of double-header, won 2-0.
- 1917 Jim Vaughn, May 2, vs. Redlegs at Weeghman Park (pitched 9.1 hitless innings, lost 1-0 on 2-hitter in 10 innings; Cincinnati's Fred Toney pitched 10-inning no-hitter).
- 1955 Sam Jones, May 12, vs. Pirates at Wrigley Field, won 3-0.
- 1960 Don Cardwell, May 15, vs. Cardinals at Wrigley Field, second game of double-header, won 4-0.
- 1969 Ken Holtzman, August 19, vs. Braves at Wrigley Field, won 3-0.
- 1971 Ken Holtzman, June 3, vs. Reds at Cincinnati (N), won 1-0.
- 1972 Burt Hooton, April 16, vs. Phillies at Wrigley Field, won 4-0.
- 1972 Milt Pappas, September 2, vs. Padres at Wrigley Field, won 8-0 (no Cub has pitched a perfect game; Pappas came closest by not allowing a batter to reach base until walking a man with 2 outs in the 9th inning).

NO-HITTER DAY

On August 19, 1965, Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds threw a 10-inning no-hitter against the Cubs at Wrigley Field. The Reds won the game 1-0 on a home run by Leo Cardenas. Four years later, on August 19, 1969, Cub lefty Ken Holtzman threw the first of his two no-hitters when he beat the Atlanta Braves 3-0 at Wrigley Field. All three runs scored on Ron Santo's first-inning homer.

CUBS HALL OF FAME

On August 23, 1986, the Cubs inducted pitcher Orval Overall and outfielder Riggs Stephenson into the Chicago Cubs Hall of Fame, bringing the total number of members in the Hall to 42.

Overall pitched in six seasons with the Cubs (1906-1910, 1913). He had a record of 86-44 over that time with 28 shutouts and a 1.92 ERA. He pitched in four World Series with Chicago, going 3-1 with a 1.58 ERA. Overall enjoyed his best season in 1907 when he had a 23-8 record, 8 shutouts, 26 complete games and a 1.70 ERA.

Stephenson, a member of the Cubs' famed Murderer's Row of the late 1920's and early 1930's, hit .336 in his nine-year Cub career (1926-1934). His average is tied for the highest in club history. 'Old Hoss' drove in 110 runs in 1929, teaming with Hack Wilson (159) and Kiki Cuyler (102) to become the only 100-RBI outfield in N.L. history. In two World Series with the Cubs (1929, 1932), Stephenson went 14-for-37 (.378) with 7 RBI and 5 runs scored.

The Chicago Cubs organization instituted the Chicago Cubs Hall of Fame in 1982. That first season, the club selected 17 former Cubs who had been previously inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, NY. Also inducted in 1982 were three members of the Wrigley family. In addition, the fans voted 12 members into the Hall, bringing the inaugural induction total to 32.

The following is a list of the 42 members in the Chicago Cubs Hall of Fame:

1984 PLAYOFF RECORD

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 2—AT WRIGLEY FIELD CUBS 13, PADRES 0

The Cubs had 16 hits, including 5 homers, and scored an NLCS-record 13 runs in their rout over San Diego. Rick Sutcliffe hit one of the homers en route to getting the victory. He allowed 2 hits in 7 innings and struck out 8. Bob Dernier led off the Cubs' 1st inning with a homer off Eric Show. Gary Matthews homered twice for the Cubs and Ron Cey added a 2-run shot.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 3—AT WRIGLEY FIELD CUBS 4, PADRES 2

Steve Trout went 8.1 innings and allowed just 5 hits in earning the victory for the Cubs. Gary Matthews' 1st-inning ground out, scoring Bob Dernier, proved to be the game-winner. It was a record 5th-straight NLCS game in which Matthews had driven in a run. A Ron Cey RBI double and a Jody Davis sacrifice fly in the 3rd gave Chicago a 3-0 lead. Lee Smith recorded the final 2 outs for the save.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4—AT SAN DIEGO PADRES 7, CUBS 1

A 2-run double by Garry Templeton in the 5th inning gave the Padres a lead they didn't relinquish. Dennis Eckersley took the loss for the Cubs.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6—AT SAN DIEGO PADRES 7, CUBS 5

Steve Garvey had 4 hits and 5 RBI, including a 2-run homer in the 9th inning off Lee Smith to snap a 5-5 tie. Garvey doubled in a run in the 3rd to give the Padres the lead, but back-to-back homers by Jody Davis and Leon Durham off Tim Lollar in the 4th put the Cubs on top. Garvey singled in runs in the 5th and 7th innings to give San Diego the lead. In the 8th inning, Chicago scored 2 runs to tie the score at 5-5, setting up Garvey's bottom of the 9th heroics.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 7—AT SAN DIEGO PADRES 6, CUBS 3

The Cubs took a 3-0 lead into the bottom of the 6th inning, but the Padres rallied for 6 late-inning runs. Leon Durham's 2-run homer in the 1st and Jody Davis' solo shot in the 2nd gave the Cubs the lead. San Diego scored twice in the 6th inning and added 4 runs in the 7th. Rick Sutcliffe took the loss for the Cubs.

GENERAL RULES AND INFORMATION

Player Limits: Clubs must cut their active rosters to a maximum of 25 players or a minimum of 24 by Opening Day. From September 1 to Opening Day, teams may carry up to 40 players.

Waivers: Players are available on waivers for purchase by other clubs in reverse order of the league standings at the time waivers expire if more than 30 days after Opening Day. Otherwise, clubs may claim players on waivers in reverse order of the league standings at the close of the preceding season. There are three waiver periods: November 11 to 30th day of season; 31st day of season to July 31; and August 1 to November 10.

Trading Deadline: The trading deadline is July 31. Waivers are necessary for any player assignment between Major League clubs made from August 1 until 5 p.m. (EDT) the day after the close of the regular season. Waivers are not needed for Major League assignments during the rest of the year.

Regulation Game: A regulation game consists of nine innings unless extended because of a tie score or shortened because (1) the home team needs none or part of its half of the ninth or (2) because the umpire-in-chief calls the game after at least five completed innings. A regulation game may be less than five innings if the home team leads after the top of the fifth or takes the lead or ties the score while batting in the fifth.

Tie Game: A regulation game that is called by the umpire-in-chief when both teams have the same number of runs is a tie game. Player performances are official and are entered in the records, but the game does not count in the league standings and may be rescheduled at a later date.

VOICES OF THE CUBS

Once again WGN television and WGN radio will broadcast Cubs baseball throughout the Midwest. The broadcasting crews will consist of the longtime expertise of Harry Caray and Lou Boudreau and the solid professional backgrounds of former player Steve Stone, Dewayne Staats and newcomer Jim Frey. The crew's credentials include a former Cy Young Award winner, a former Most Valuable Player honoree and Hall of Famer, a former Manager of the Year and two of the broadcasting profession's top talents.

Colorful Harry Caray is entering his 44th season of broadcasting and his sixth with the Cubs. Harry will again be the play-by-play voice of WGN television during the first three and final three innings. During the middle three innings he will do play-by-play on WGN radio.

Before coming to the North Side in 1982, Harry was the voice of the White Sox for 11 years. He came to Chicago after spending one year doing Oakland A's games (1970) and 25 years broadcasting the St. Louis baseball Cardinals games. Harry began his apprenticeship in radio sports before World War II in Joliet, IL. He has covered boxing, football, basketball and hockey in addition to his baseball assignments.

Hall of Famer Lou Boudreau is celebrating his 50th year in professional baseball this season. He has been involved at the major league level as a player, manager or broadcaster since 1938. This is his 30th season with WGN. Lou will offer his insight on all home radio broadcasts and selected road games. Boudreau, who was 24 when he took over as the player-manager of the Cleveland Indians, had his best professional season in 1948 when he took the Indians to the World Championship. He was voted the American League's Most Valuable Player that season with a .355 average and a career-high 18 homers, 106 RBI and 116 runs scored. He retired in 1952 with a lifetime .295 average. He was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1970.

Former Cy Young Award winner Steve Stone will be providing color analysis on Cub telecasts for the fifth season. He finished his 11-year career in June of 1982 after suffering an arm injury. He posted a 107-93 career mark, including a 25-7 record with Baltimore during his Cy Young Award-winning season in 1980.

Steve's career also included three seasons with the Cubs. Originally signed by the San Francisco Giants, Steve was a batterymate of Thurman Munson at Kent State University.

The 1987 season will be the third with WGN for Dewayne Staats and his 10th broadcasting major league baseball. Dewayne will be doing play-by-play on the radio broadcasts during the first three and last three innings while switching over to do television play-by-play during the middle three innings.

Prior to coming to Chicago, Dewayne handled play-by-play on television and radio for the Houston Astros from 1977 through 1984. While in Houston, he also did play-by-play for the Big Eight Conference and Southwest Conference basketball. During the last two winters, Dewayne has been the radio play-by-play voice of DePaul basketball.

Jim Frey returns to Chicago as the newest member of the WGN broadcasting team. After more than 35 years in professional baseball, the former manager of both the Kansas City Royals and the Cubs will provide color commentary on radio broadcasts.

Frey's major league managerial career began in Kansas City in 1980 when he guided the Royals to the World Series. In his first season as Cubs manager in 1984, the Cubs captured the National League Eastern Division title and Frey was named National League Manager of the Year.

Also contributing to the broadcasts and pre- and post-game shows will be WGN television sports editor Jack Rosenberg, television director Arne Harris and WGN radio sports editor Chuck Swirsky. Rosenberg and long-time broadcaster Vince Lloyd will also work on Tribune Company's radio syndication which carries Cubs baseball on more than 65 stations.

WOJO

For the seventh consecutive year, WOJO 105 FM Radio Ambiente will broadcast select Cubs home games in Spanish. Leon Martinez and Luiz de Gonzales will handle the announcing duties during WOJO'S 30-game broadcast schedule.

Martinez, WOJO's sports director, will do play-by-play. He has worked at WOJO for the past seven years. De Gonzales, news director at WOJO since he joined the station in 1980, will provide color commentary during the games.

MESA—SPRING TRAINING HOME

The Cubs returned for their ninth consecutive spring training at Mesa and HoHoKam Park in 1987. In 1986 the Cubs posted a 13-22 record in 35 spring games, including four split-squad contests. The club attracted 101,055 fans to HoHoKam Park in 16 home dates, the second-highest total in park history. The Cubs drew 102,950 in 1985 to establish a major league spring training attendance record. The average of 6,316 last year was also the second-best average in park history. The highest average attendance at HoHoKam was set in 1985—6,434 per game. The highest single-game home attendance in 1986 was 7,655 set on five different occasions. The HoHoKam Park single-game attendance mark was set on March 12, 1985, when 8,118 fans attended a Cubs-Padres exhibition game.

The Cubs batted .281 and posted a 5.58 team ERA during the 1986 Cactus League season. Brian Dayett led the club in hitting with a .383 mark. Thad Bosley batted .379, Bobby Dernier hit .366 and Leon Durham batted .333 with 3 homers and 14 runs scored. Other regulars batted as follows: Ryne Sandberg (.351), Keith Moreland (.306), Jody Davis (.271) and Shawon Dunston (.261).

Steve Trout led the pitching staff with a 3-1 record and a 4.22 ERA in six starts. Dennis Eckersley led the club in innings pitched (34.0) and strikeouts (27). Lee Smith posted a 1-0 record with four saves and a 4.57 ERA in 12 appearances.

HoHoKam Park is run by a group of local businessmen, known as the HoHoKams. The group has made the Cubs spring home one of the best facilities in major league baseball. In 1983, Cubs President and General Manager Dallas Green announced a new agreement that will keep the Cubs at HoHoKam Park through the 1993 season.

Since coming to HoHoKam Park in 1979, the Cubs have compiled spring training records of 14-10-1 (1979), 10-10-1 (1980), 8-12 (1981), 14-8-1 (1982), 12-16 (1983), 7-20 (1984), 18-31-1 (1985) and 13-22 (1986). The Cubs' best spring record in the last 20 years was in 1971 when they went 20-10.

Mesa is only the fifth training site used by the Cubs since 1921. The club trained for 26 years from 1921-51 (excluding the World War II years) at Catalina Island located off the coast of southern California. The Cubs trained at French Lick, IN, during the springs of 1942-43-44. In 1952, the Cubs moved to Mesa and trained there until they went to Long Beach, CA, in 1966 for one spring. In 1967, the Cubs moved to Scottsdale, AZ, and remained there until 1979 before returning to Mesa and HoHoKam Park.

Mesa has a population of more than 250,000 and is located southeast of Scottsdale and Phoenix. HoHoKam Park is located at 1235 North Center Street, just north of Brown Road. HoHoKam Park opened on March 11, 1977, and was originally the spring training home of the Oakland A's.
